ERRATA

- 1 Change GENERATION "VIII" to "VII" in caption of pages 44 and 46.
- 2 Put "Chas. Venable Brown 1st" for "Chas. Venable 1st," page 42; line 8.
- 3 Change "2nd" to "3rd" after Geo. Akers, p. 72; line 4 from bottom.

ADDENDA

- 1 The paper used is suitable for writing with ink.
- 2 Number the blank pages on consecutively for reference to future additional names introduced by birth and marriage, and for additional Family numbers.
- 3 Fill in so far as known names and dates left out, or left blank because unknown, or unreported.
- 4 Before pasting in valued pictures detach the photographic paper from the softer card below without wetting. This can best be done by halving the cardboard until sufficiently thin to paste in neatly.
- 5 The putting in of tissue paper leaves in front of the pictures was overlooked. Without it the ink on opposite pages will in time mar the pictures to some extent. This can be prevented by pasting in such leaves.
- 6 It has also been decided not to raise the price after the first of January, as stated in circular sent out, also to sell to any one really unable to pay the price asked at special rates, that none who value the book may be debarred from getting it.

1. Generations are numbered from I to XI and continuable indefinitely.

2. Children are numbered consecutively in a family in the order of birth so far as known. Those dying in infancy are often not reported.

4. Each child with known issue, reported by name, is numbered twice. The first is the family number, under which the name appears the second time as parent, in the next generation. But

EXPLANATORY INTRODUCTION

In May, 1914, just 47 years after its inception, having nearly completed my Bible work, described under my name within, I went to Virginia to rest and recuperate in a visit among friends and relatives, expecting on my return in the fall to prepare "The Bible with Revised Helps" for formal presentation to Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, who, after satisfying herself of its practical value, had promised to assist, if possible, in financing it by benevolent contribution. I was Providentially checked the sixth time by her untimely death, and again soon afterwards the war in the east checked general benevolence by its many calls to alleviate suffering. I must now await God's Providential guidance since there is a general agreement among Bible publishers, leading divines, professors in theological seminaries and secretaries of the American Bible Society, Tract Society and Sunday School Union that at least the plates of this Bible should be made benevolently that it may be sold as cheaply as practicable to accomplish the important practical ends for which it is intended and adapted.

Seeing no one else to do the work and knowing that unless genealogical facts of the family are recorded very soon, much of importance to posterity would be lost with my generation, I decided to seek information from every available source on this trip to Virginia. I soon became deeply interested and have continued for over twelve months, sparing no trouble or expense and following all available clues which have led into over forty states, the District of Columbia, and the Philippines; and including men in every walk of life, civil and military, agricultural and political, literary and educational, authors, scientists, professors, deans and presidents of colleges and universities, pioneers, inventors, poets, engineers, etc.

Preparatory, I visited the Genealogical Department of the New York City Library and studied methods of arrangement, but finding nothing satisfactory, I adopted the following plan, continuable indefinitely in a family, both as a genealogy and as a picture gallery.

1. Generations are numbered from I to XI and continuable indefinitely.

2. Children are numbered consecutively in a family in the order of birth so far as known. Those dying in infancy are often not reported.

4. Each child with known issue, reported by name, is numbered twice. The first is the family number, under which the name appears the second time as parent, in the next generation. But when there are only young unmarried children in a family their names often follow those of their parents, with the generation number in capitals to indicate it, and the family number is there lacking. The page number after the family number in headings of families refers to the page at which the name or names of parents occur first as children.

5. Females are numbered under the family names of their husbands.

6. In giving dates, the year is given first, then the number of the month, and day of the month, with a hyphen between each, thus: 1861-1-21, January 21, 1861.

7. In the first four generations a "(?)" after a given name indicates a doubt, the name not being definitely known beyond question.

8. Pictures are inserted in each line as far back as could be obtained.

9. In addition to well-known abbreviations, the following are used, viz.: "b.," born; "d.," died; "d. y.," died young; "m.," married; "unm.," unmarried; "n. m.," never married; "n. i.," no issue; "dau.," daughter; "bro.," brother; "sis.," sister; "unk.," unknown; "unr.," unreported, and "s. l.," still living, in 1915.

The Shearer, Akers and Bryan lines are each traced from four generations back of their meeting place in the Fifth Generation in the family of William Akers, and only the first two continued into the last, the Eleventh Generation. The "Bryan Line" is carried through the Seventh Generation after which all except the Dinwidie family had gone west and are dropped because we had but little knowledge of them.

Our purpose was to have carried the Bryan Line only through the Fifth Generation to show the junction of the families, and for its continuance to have referred to "The Bryan Line" promised by Mr. Jesse Bryan, of St. Louis, Mo., author of the important pioneer work "The Bryan-Akers Family," without the help and inspiration of which this work might never have been begun. But having received a letter from him stating that partly because of a lack of interest in genealogy, and partly for personal reasons, he had given up further publication, it seemed necessary to continue the whole through the Seventh Generation, as stated above, when most of the Bryans had gone west. From this point we leave it to some one more conversant to continue "The Bryan Line" to the present time. The Eighth Generation of Bryans is given in "The Bryan-Akers Family" alluded to above.

Beyond the Seventh Generation, however, blank pages, or leaves, are inserted so that any one of either of these three lines, as well of the Steeles, Chapmans, Webbers and Peticrews, who also unite with them in the Fifth Generation in the family of William Akers, none of whom we are able to trace further back, can insert his own genealogy to date, and continue it indefinitely in his family by adding any additional facts he wishes to preserve, pasting in prized pictures and adding at their appropriate places in the Index additional names introduced by births and marriages.

I hereby acknowledge assistance given in many ways by my brother, Rev. J. B. Shearer, D.D., L.L.D., during my visit last summer and in his ready response to inquiries by letter since; by Mrs. Ann Maria Turner, nee Shearer, for help in her branch of the Shearer family; by Mr. George William Akers in his untiring zeal and perseverance in securing facts in the genealogy of the descendants of his grandfather, Rev. Peter Akers, D.D.; by Misses Eliza Ellen and Mortie Moon Akers for help in their branches of the family; and by Rev. Edwin Akers in sending many letters of Dr. Akers, which furnished many dates and facts of importance, and also a scrapbook from which many facts embodied in the sketch of the life of Dr. Akers were obtained; and I hereby express my regrets for omissions in his own and his father's families because of failure to get the facts from him after several attempts by special letters. I sent him also a full list of the descendants of Dr. Akers as soon as the names were tabulated, with the promise that he would correct and return it, but I have been unable, after several attempts, to get a corrected list.

I desire also to acknowledge my indebtedness for material help in making a record of the Steeles, Irvins, Ruckers, Chapmans, Bonds and Helms, to Mrs. Lizzie Irene Bond, née Steele, to Miss Alice Irvin 1st, to Miss Irene Hunter Irvin, to Miss Mary Rucker, to Mrs. Sarah Fairfax Chapman, nee Irvin; to Mrs. Fannie Clementine Smith, nee Chapman; to Miss Mary Chapman, and to Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Clayton; and also to Mrs. Hattie E. Patterson, nee Perkinson, for the genealogy of the Waddills and Perkinsons. Without the cordial co-operation of Miss Georgia Florence Williamson, Dr. Calvin Smith Brown and Miss Katherine Brown the genealogy of the large family of Charles Venable and Elizabeth Brown would have been very meager; and the record of the younger branches of the Dinwiddies is much fuller through the courtesy of Mr. Edgar Evans Dinwiddie and Miss Emily W. Dinwiddie.

I. THE SHEARER-AKERS' HEAD

GENERATIONS I AND II

Shearer, m. ——.

When Cromwell disbanded his famous "Ironsides" he settled them on confiscated estates in North Ireland. Among them were "Shearers," whom we are unable to trace by name for the first two generations. They were English Puritans and Presbyterians. They preserve their identity and traditions to this day with but little admixture of Scotch-Irish blood on the one hand, or Celtic blood on the other. All were at first Presbyterians and Old Line Whigs in this country, and none seemed to need, or to care for, a stimulant.

GENERATIONS III AND IV

Shearer, m. ——.

Some time before the Revolutionary war, probably about 1740, four brothers of this Puritanical stock came to America, presumably with their families, from the County of Armagh and Province of Ulster, Ireland. Their names were Geo., Jno., Wm. 1st, and Jas. Shearer 1st. One settled in New York, two in Pennsylvania, and one in South Carolina. The Pennsylvania branch of the family is traceable through Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Missouri. The South Carolina branch is traceable as far west and southwest as Mississippi and New Orleans. Wherever found they preserve their traditions, personal, social and religious; and their physical characteristics and conformations, gait and features are easily recognized. These Shearer families are not to be confounded with German Lutherans of substantially the same name, "Schearer," "Scherer" and "Sherer," of whom there are a great number in this country. One of these brothers is the father of:—

1 James (?) Shearer 2nd, m. Lenna ——. We are unable to trace definitely by name the many descendants of these brothers.

GENERATION V

James (?) Shearer 2nd, m. Lenna ——, Va.

1 1 James Shearer 3rd, b. 1776-4-11, d. 1871-10-22; buried in the fourth graveyard of the "Old Concord" Presbyterian Church. m. 1, 1801-1-16, Elizabeth Akers 1st, b. 1768-8-28, d. 1851-3-5, from a fall breaking a limb. Buried beside him.

m. 2, 1851-7-15, Elizabeth Jane Davis, d. 1855, sister of Nancy Davis, who m. Geo. Akers 1st, dau. of Jno and Nancy Davis, and grand-dau. of Reese and Bridget Evans. n. i.

m. 3, 1855-11-26, Eliza Petty, d. about 1874. n. i.

2 Anna Lenna, m. —— Caldwell, d. 1822-4-6. Unk. There were other sisters, nephews and nieces who m. Ashers, Popes and Talbots and moved early to Ohio and Indiana.

II. THE AKERS-MARTYE HEAD GENERATIONS I AND II

The surname "Akers" is probably of English origin, though claimed by some to be of German and by others of Irish origin. The Coat of Arms and the Crescent of the English family run well back to the Crusades. The name was originally "Acres." King Richard gave to one of his courtiers named John, the town of "Acre" on the coast of Palestine. When he returned to England he was known as "John De Acre," and for many years the name was "De Acre." After a while the "De" was dropped and the name became "Acres," until later changed to "Akers."

Akers No. 1

William (?) Akers 1st, m. ——. He purchased land in West Jersey prior to 1698, at which time he and others were granted 100 acres by "The West Jersey Company" for a meeting house, burial ground and schoolhouse in Maiden township, above the falls of the Delaware.

2 1 Simon (?) 1st, m. ——. Probably his son.

GENERATION III

Akers No. 2

Simon (?) Akers 1st, m. ——. Died intestate in Hunterdon co., N. J., in 1722. Letters of administration were granted to Simon Akers, probably his oldest son.

- 1 Simon 2nd, m. ——, in Edgemont township, Chester co., Pa., in 1715; probably administered his father's estate.
- 3 2 Robert, b. 1703, in N. J.; m. Sarah ——, b. 1706-3-13.
- 3 John 1st, m. Martha ——. Bought land in Amwell township, Hunterdon co., N. J., in 1735. Children: 1 William 2nd, 2 Obadiah, 3 Thomas, 4 Susannah, 5 Jonathan, 6, Elsie. Unk.

GENERATION IV

Akers No. 3

Robert Akers, m. Sarah ——. Lived in N. J. There is a tradition that some Akers ancestor, probably his wife, was kidnapped in Wales, when a child, and brought to America.

- 4 1 William 3rd, b. 1730, d. 1810; m. Elizabeth Martye (or Marte), from Pa., of Holland-Dutch extraction; probably dau. of Heinrich Martye (or Marte), from the Palatinate, Germany, who sailed from Rotterdam in the "Alexander and Ann," and arrived at Phila., Oct., 1730. He patented 175 acres in Nelson co., Va., in 1751, and later moved to present Campbell co.; buried in the second burial ground of "Old Concord" Pres. Church, where his tombstone now stands in a natural grove. The headstone is of dark colored native stone and the letters as distinct as if just carved.

GENERATION V

Akers No. 4

William Akers 3rd, m. Elizabeth Martye. Farmer. Campbell co., Va.

1 1 Sarah, m. Alexander Steele. Farmer, settled on "Steele's Hill" in present Appomattox co., Va.

5 2 William 4th, m. Dolly Blackburn (?); probably in Revolutionary War. Settled in Franklin co., Va., where also settled his cousin, Jno. Akers 2nd, who m. Nancy Jeffs. A farmer.

6 3 Mary 1st, b. 1754-3-15; m. 1772, Andrew Morrison Bryan, b. 1748-11-25, who sold his land on Molly's creek to his brother, Jno., moved to N. C.; later returned to Campbell co., Va.

4 Rachel, m. Jos. (?) McMinn. To Hawkins co., Tenn.; member of Convention in 1769 which formed the State Constitution; held several offices; Speaker of the Senate. In 1815 elected Governor; served three terms; was well educated, but a plain farmer and avoided display. The town of McMinnville was named for him. Went to the Cherokee Nation. Unk.

1 5 Catherine 1st, m. 1787, Benj. Chapman 1st, bro. of Rev. Jas. Chapman, a noted Cumberland Pres. preacher, who d. in Sumner co., Tenn., 1834.

6 6 Peter 1st, b. 1756, d. 1834; m. Martha Haraway. In Revolutionary War. A prosperous farmer owning slaves. To Columbia, Tenn., about 1816.

7 Simon 3rd, m. —. To Greenbrier co., Va.; later, between 1795 and 1804, to Ohio, with a large family of boys and girls, where he died. Some of his family moved afterwards to Ky., to a town on the Ohio river.

Thomas Peter Akers, the son of a William Akers, of North Ohio, b. in 1826, was probably a grandson of Simon Akers. He says that his father moved to Ky. and died shortly afterwards, when he himself was taken back to Ohio and lost the family connection. He was President of a college in Greensburg, Ky., in 1849; later a partner with Col. Henry Windsor at Lexington, Ky. Then he went to Congress. During the war he was President of the Gold Board, N. Y. City; moved to Colorado and died there.

7 8 John 3rd, b. 1763-8-9, d. 1803-7-3, m. 1783, Agnes Bryan. A sailor when a young man; sometimes called "Bunker John" because in the battle of Bunker's Hill; a maker of "slays" for weaving. Concord, Va.

1 9 Ruth, b. 1766, d. 1845-11-20, m. Jno. Webber, b. 1772, d. 1839-12-20. After his death she made her home with her son-in-law, John A. Shearer, of Appomattox, and was buried in his lot in the fourth cemetery of "Old Concord" Pres. Church.

1 10 Elizabeth 1st, b. 1768-8-28, d. 1851-3-5, m. Jas. Shearer 3rd; buried in same lot with Ruth at Old Concord, of which both were members.

1 11 Anne, m. Matt. Peticrew 1st, farmer, Campbell co., Va. She d. from a broken hip, having suffered patiently for 9 years. The seven sisters all d. from accident when past 80.

History of Old Concord Presbyterian Church

"Old Concord" is the mother of eight Presbyterian churches on the north side, viz.: New Concord, Concord, Diamond Hill, Union, Appomattox, Rustburg, Stonewall and Madisonville, besides furnishing large quotas to the Lynchburg churches and to other denominations. Many of her families also migrated to Tenn., Ky., Mo., Ohio, Ird. and Ills., between 1830 and 1855, and founded a number of churches, of which their descendants are still the bone and sinew.

Her early minutes were lost. From "Foote's Sketch of Virginia," we get some material facts. From 1700 to 1750 many Scotch, Irish, Scotch-Irish and Huguenot Presbyterians, fleeing persecution, settled in Va. and were prominent in her struggle of 50 years for religious liberty. The Episcopalian was the established church supported by taxation. Other ordained ministers were not allowed by the Colonial government, but Presbyterian "Meeting Houses" and "Congregations" with "Readers" were tolerated by paying an oppressive license. These "Congregations" were visited by evangelists of great power from New Castle and Brunswick Presbyteries and often arrested and fined because they joined with the "Readers" in fearless denunciation of the corrupt state clergy. In 1735 a Dr. Caldwell, the grandfather of Jno. C. Calhoun, of So. Ca., presumably a "Reader," "backed by the Synod of Philadelphia," established the "settlements" (Congregations) of Cub Creek, Buffalo, and soon after, of Hat Creek and Walker's Church. The Presbytery of Hanover, organized in 1755, with 6 ministers and churches through Va., met at Concord, June 15, 1777, and again July 29, 1791.

Tradition says that Concord church was organized in "Reedy Spring Schoolhouse," near the present M. E. Church, at Concord, Va. The church has had four buildings in 180 years, 1735 to 1915.

The first stood half a mile East, near the Richmond pike, where the neglected graveyard is still seen. About 1780 the second was built a mile and a half eastward on the farm of Tom Jones, later the Shaw and Brown place, not far from the fork of the Richmond pike and the Charlotte road. The graveyard is still seen in the midst of a grown up forest. About 1810 the present lot was selected, a little further eastward, on the crest of a hill on the North side of the Charlotte road, because "convenient to water," which was wanting at both the former locations. Here the third building was erected, which, becoming dilapidated, was superseded by the present brick structure in 1854, near the road. The third cemetery was North of the old building. The fourth cemetery is across the road from the church, on a lot acquired from Tom Jones, about 1850. It is neatly kept.

When a colony was set off from Concord, about 1840, and called "New Concord," the name of the mother church was changed to "Old Concord."

III. THE BRYAN-MORRISON HEAD

The surname "Bryan," originally "O'Brien," and variously spelled "Bryant," "Brian," etc., originated with "Brian Boru," king of Ireland, A. M. 1002-1014. A line of princes and chiefs descended from him, who, with their adherents, defended their national independence in Thomund, called "O'Brien's Country," with fierce contests for centuries against the Anglo-Normans and British. Of these Sir Francis Bryan, a prominent man in Ireland, about the middle of the sixteenth century, and probably President of Munster, is believed to have been the ancestor of the following Bryan line:—

Bryan No. 1

William Smith (?) Bryan, m. ——. A landholder in Ireland, probably Claire co., when Cromwell invaded Ireland in 1650; transported as a "rebellious subject" to the American colonies, with his family of eleven sons and a ship's load of goods and chattels. He settled in Gloucester co., Va.

2—1 Francis (?), m. ——. The oldest of the 11 sons. 9 unk.

2 Morgan 1st, who was in Norfolk in 1663, was probably one of his sons.

GENERATION III

Bryan No. 2

Francis (?) Bryan, m. ——. Returned to Ireland in 1677 to recover his hereditary titles and estates, but was so persecuted by the English government that he sought refuge in Denmark.

3 1 Morgan 2nd, b. 1687, m. about 1719, Martha Strode. Chester co., Pa. Later to present Frederick co., Va.

4 2 William 1st, b. 1685, m. Margaret ——. Sent his little son, Jno., to the woods to cut a stick for the handle of a hook used in weaving, and he was arrested for "poaching." After much trouble and expense he got him cleared and immediately sailed for America in 1789, where, as he said, "Timber is free and no constables." They were Presbyterians and lived at Ballyrony, County Down, the neighboring town of "Bryansford" being named from some of the family.

Other brothers also probably came to America.

GENERATION IV

Bryan No. 3

Morgan Bryan 2nd, d. 1763, m. Martha Strode. To present Davie co., N. C., about 1748, with all his children, but Jos.

- 1 Joseph, m. Hester Hampden. Remained in Va.
- 2 Samuel, n. m. A Loyalist; Col. of "N. C. Refugees;" with Cornwallis at Yorktown.
- 3 James 1st, m. Rebecca Enox. He and all his brothers except Sam., were in the American army in the Revolutionary war.
- 4 John 1st, m. Francis Battle. 5 Elinor, m. Wm. Linville.
- 6 Morgan 3rd, m. Maximilian Simpson. One of the Committee of Safety for Rowan co., N. C., in 1775.
- 7 William 2nd, m. 1755, Mary Boone, sis. of Dan. Boone. He, Jas (and Morgan, later) went to Ky., in 1779, and founded Bryan's Station.
- 8 Thomas 1st, m. Sarah Hunt. Surgeon in army. Lived in Miss.; moved to Bryan's Cross Roads, N. C. His children and most of the descendants of Morgan Bryan went to Ky.; some later to Mo.
- 9 Rebecca, d. 1812, m., 1755-6, Dan. Boone, b. 1734-10-3, d. 1820-8-26. The pioneer of Ky. After a few adventures and settlements he took his family and others to Ky., in 1775, and built the fort afterwards called Booneville.

Bryan No. 4

William Bryan 1st, m. Margaret ——; d. near Roanoke City, aged 104, in 1789. About 1745 he, with his son, Jas., and David Bryan, a son, or a brother, and probably others of the family, moved to and were the first settlers at present Roanoke. He settled at "Lake Spring" and David at "Big Lick," both now suburbs of Roanoke City. David later to N. C.

- 5 1 John 2nd, d. 1799, m. Mary Morrison, a Scotch-Irish Presbyterian. About 1745 moved to the Burden colony, near present Fairfield, Rockbridge co., Va., founded 1737, the furthest colony then in the valley of Va. A few years later to the Staunton river colony and settled where the town of Salem now stands.
- 2 James 2nd, settled near present Roanoke City, on Staunton River.
- 3 William 3rd, m. Margaret Watson, aunt of Philip Frenau, "The Poet of the Revolution;" related also to John Fanning Watson, the antiquarian, of Phila. He settled on Staunton River about 1745, and inherited the Lake Spring place. Some of their descendants went to Mason co., W. Va., the postoffice "Bryan" being so called from them. Jas. sold the Lake Spring place, later called the Dr. Johnson place, and moved to Washington co., Mo. He and other Bryan families, six in all, took adjoining farms in the Belgrave Valley.

Other children, unk.

Bryan No. 5

John Bryan 2nd, m. Mary Morrison. Troubled by Indians, he traded his land on Staunton river for a pair of cart wheels and moved in 1763 to present Campbell co., Va.; bought 320 acres from Richard Stith on Molly's Creek and 439 from Benj. Arnold at its head and built a hut about 2 miles southeast of present Rustburg. A lot on this place was used for many years after the Revolution as a muster ground. Campbell court house was built about 1782 on 40 acres covering the spring which heads Molly's Creek, given by George Rust, soon after the county was cut off from Bedford.

- 1 William 4th, m. Mary — n. i. Inherited the 320 acres; sold it in 1779 and moved to Bedford co., and d. there.
- 6 2 Andrew Morrison, b. 1748-4-25, m. Mary Akers 1st. Presumably in the Revolutionary war. In 1773 he received 156 acres from the large tract on Molly's Creek.
- 3 Mary 1st, d. y.
- 4 Margaret, m 1 Daniel Mitchel. Kept tavern near the Bedford line. m. 2 Patrick Gibson. To Rockbridge co., Va.
- 7 5 John 3rd, m. Catherine Evans, b. 1766-5-8, d. 1850-11-19, youngest dau. of Reese Evans, a Welshman, and Biddy, his wife, of Campbell co., Va.

From Reese and Biddy Evans are descended large families of Evans, Bryans, Booths, Gardners, Franklins and Robertsons, many of whom moved west at different times. Their children were, 1 Daniel. 2 Samson. 3 Nancy, m. Jno. Davis, whose dau. Jane was the second wife of Jas. Shearer 3rd. 4 Letitia, m. Thos. Franklin. 5 Elizabeth, m. —. 6 —, m. Robertson. 7 Catherine.

John Bryan was a large man weighing over 350 at death. In the American army at battles of Eutaw Springs, Guilford Court House, Waxhaw and Yorktown, where he witnessed the surrender of Cornwallis. Once while at home to recruit he went turkey hunting on Long Mountain and in what is now called "Rust's Den," he spied 26 Tory horse thieves with as many horses stolen for the British. He went back without being seen and notified his Capt., who soon assembled his company and captured the entire band, among whom were George Rust and J. Barney Finch. He owned and lived on his father's home place in Campbell; had a distillery and blacksmith shop; owned many slaves and prospered.

- 6 Jane, m. Jno. Davison. Well off, owning' slaves. Campbell co., Va.
- 7 7 Agnes 1st, b. 1763, d. 1849-1-29, m. 1 Jno. Akers 3rd. Farmer, Campbell co., Va.
m. 2 Reuben Bagby, n. i. Campbell co., Va.
- 8 Catherine, m. Sam. Cole. Unk.

IV. THE SHEARER-AKERS FAMILY

GENERATION VI

Shearer No. 1

James Shearer 3rd, m. 1 Elizabeth Akers 1st. m. 2 Elizabeth Jane Davis. m. 3 Eliza Petty.

Left an orphan; when quite young he was "bound out" to a tailor named Davis who lived near present Spout Spring. He lived and died in this community; became a prosperous farmer, owning and attending to his four farms until accidentally killed by a fall down his cellar steps, when past 96, stumbling over a rug as he went down to supper.

- 2 1 William 2nd, b. 1802-2-10, d. 1860-1-21, m. Harriet Brown, b. 1803-3-25, d. 1890-5-7; nearly blind from cataract. First a Presbyterian, then an enthusiastic Methodist worker.
- 3 2 John Akers, b. 1809-9-9, d. 1897-2-10, buried at Old Concord Presbyterian Church, of which he was an Elder.
  - m. 1 1830-12-24 Ruth Akers Webber, b. 1810-1-6, d. 1847-7-21. Buried beside him. Remarkable for her unselfish character and greatly beloved by all who knew her.
  - m. 2 1847-11 Elizabeth Letitia Margaret Carson, b. 1817-2-25, d. 1903-4-23. Had a remarkable memory for names and dates; could give at once the names of friends and acquaintances and the dates of their births, marriages and deaths with wonderful accuracy and detail even to old age.

He was educated at Hampden Sidney College; suffered through life from a peculiar form of nervous dyspepsia. He devoted his life wholly to the rearing of his family and to the service of his church and community without engaging in any enterprise for the increase of his fortune, and without seeking, or accepting civil office. As a leader in academic education, a wise and faithful counsellor and a general peacemaker seeking only what he believed to be just and right without favor, or partiality, his influence for good in his quiet, unobtrusive way it is impossible to overestimate.

On most moral questions he was much in advance of his generation. As early as 1856 he wrote much for religious papers on "Church Union," presenting all the arguments later advanced in its favor. He became an early life member of the American Bible Society, Tract Society, Sunday School Union; and also of The African Colonization Society as a means of solving the slavery question. He offered freedom to all or any of his slaves who would go to Liberia, the laws of Va. not permitting him to set them free within her bounds. But not one of them would accept it, all agreeing in the statement, "We got a good home here and we an't gwine to no Liberia." He proposed to move to Iowa to separate his family from the influence of slavery, but yielded to the request of his father to remain near him as long as he lived; and refused the gift of slaves when offered by his father to wait on his children, with the statement, "My children must learn to wait on themselves." When he heard of the fall of Fort Sumter, he said, "The gun that fired on Fort Sumter sounded the death knell of slavery on the American continent."

He was strictly conscientious in business, "A man who swearth to his own hurt and changeth not." In trading a horse he would first tell all the bad qualities he knew. He would not raise tobacco because an almost useless commodity. When asked by his preacher why he didn't raise tobacco like his neighbors his answer was, "Mr. Stickley, I feel that a man should do nothing in life of which he would be ashamed when he goes above. Suppose I spend my life in raising tobacco and Peter asks me when he meets me at the gate of heaven, 'What have you been doing on earth, Mr. Shearer?' If I had spent my life in raising tobacco, I could only say, 'Well, Peter, I have helped people to puff and spit lots,' which I consider a very low end in life."

Lizzie Gessner, dau. of Jno. Gessner, a Lutheran, and Katrina Blumenthal, a Catholic. After her death he brought his three children to America to escape the Catholics, who claimed them. He settled near Galveston, Texas, where he and two daughters soon died. Lizzie was adopted by a Mr. and Mrs. Everett. He and several children died of yellow fever. His wife, two children and Lizzie recovered from it and she removed them to Richmond, Va., where her two daughters died. She then came with Lizzie to Farmville, Va., where she soon died. After many vicissitudes Lizzie found a home at Hampden Sidney until married. A full sketch of her long and useful life is found in the little Memorial volume mentioned above.

1 2 Elizabeth Margaret, b. 1834-2-21, d. 1872-2-19, buried on farm in Campbell co., Va., m. 1855-10-10 Wm. Archer LeGrand (first wife), b. 1830-3-26, d. 1902-10-7; buried at Pierce City, Mo.; son of Archer Alex. and Matilda (Hunter) LeGrand, of Appomattox Court House. Farmer and miller.

3 Richard Baxter, b. 1836-3-19, Capt. Co. "I" 42 Regt. Va. Vols.; killed at Monocacy 1864-7-9; buried on battlefield.

In corresponding with a member of the Sanitary Commission at Frederick City, Md., after the war the writer had the peculiar experience of having his letters confused with those of a "J. W. Shearer," of Pa., whose bro. had been killed in the same battle.

Prof. Coleman, for 25 years Prof. at the Univ. of Va., pronounced him the most proficient Latin scholar that passed under his hands; a graduate of Hampden Sidney College, dividing the first honor, and of the Univ. of Va., where his name appears on the bronze tablet erected in memory of her students who fell in the war.

He was the flower of the family and had dedicated his life to the Presbyterian ministry, expecting to have entered Union Seminary in 1861.

Akers No. 15

Rev. Peter Akers (2nd), D.D., m. 1 Eliza S. Faris. A brief account of his life written by himself in 1876:

"I, Peter Akers, was born Wednesday, Sept. 1, A. D. 1790, in Campbell co., Va.; went through a collegiate course of education;
 then studied law, and practised law four years. I then, under deep conviction, as a seeker of religion, joined the M. E. Church on the 29 of March, Sunday, 1821; got religion on Sunday the 24 of June, the same year; began to preach Friday, July 20, the same year. Then on Sunday, the 4 of April, 1824, I received the baptism of the Holy Spirit; was 'filled with all the fulness of God.' See it stated in 'The Guide to Holiness' for 1870. I am in the 86th year, and this day, Wednesday, March 8, 1876, finishes for me, in this world, 31,235 days. Thanks be to God for 'The love of God which passeth knowledge.' P. A."

Dr. Peter Akers' father died when he was but 13. At 16 he began to teach school and continued to teach and attend schools in Va. and N. C. Soon after reaching his majority he "went west," following the example of Daniel Boone and other Bryan connections. He taught at Mt. Sterling, Ky.; took "A. M." at Transylvania Univ.; studied law at Flemingsburg, with Maj. W. P. Fleming, and practiced with him; edited a Whig paper "The Star," as he was accustomed then to say "to make money as a lawyer and fame as an editor."

After the death of his first child he refused to join the church at the request of his wife, but seeing that consumption had seized her after the birth of his second child, he was awakened, and at the close of a sermon by Rev. A. G. Houston, the physician in charge, they both joined the M. E. Church on March 25, 1821. He joined Conference in the fall and was sent to the Limestone Circuit; and to Little Kanawha circuit in 1822. Ordained 1823-8-14; to Fleming circuit 1823; Lexington 1825, Russellville 1826; appointed agent for Augusta College 1827; to Danville and Harrodsburg 1829; to Louisville 1830, and agent for Conference in 1831.

In 1832 he sought and obtained a transfer to Illinois Conference to remove his family from the influence of slavery; President of Lebanon Seminary in 1833; served as President of McKendree College three times, 1834-36, 1845-46 and 1852-58. In 1835 he had charge also of "The Ebenezer Manual Labor School," which he had established on his own farm 4 miles northwest of Jacksonville. It was also under his superintendency while at the Beardstown Mission in 1836, and while at Springfield in 1837. He was Presiding Elder of the Quincy District in 1838-40, of Springfield District 1841-44, and of Jacksonville in 1846-51.

McKendree College conferred the degree "D.D." in 1884; while there he published his only book "Aker's Chronology," a "masterly work," in which he claims a much longer time from Creation to Christ than the Chronology of Usher, based on the Hebrew Bible, allows. Adlai E. Stevenson, Vice President, attributes his success in life largely to his influence and teaching.

"His personality," says Rev. Chauncey Hobart, a member of his Conference, "was such as to command attention at once. He was full six feet in height, well developed, shoulders broad, with head well poised, his attitude erect, limbs well proportioned, complexion light, eyes blue and clear, large head, high forehead, straight Saxon nose, chin indicating firmness minus stubbornness, lengthened upper lip, and a mouth rather large but remarkably expressive. The whole contour of his face was indicative of intelligence, kindness, benevolence and firmness, the whole constituting a presence that would at once attract attention and could not be easily forgotten.

"As a preacher he was 'sui generis' in several respects. It always seemed to me that he took a text merely as a starting point, and then he began to circle around it, and to sweep wider and wider, to rise higher and higher until the whole theological world seemed to stand out in full view glowing with love and burdened with salvation; and then with a heart all melted with tenderness and a face frequently bathed with tears he would seemingly lay his whole congregation at his Savior's feet and plead with them by all that heaven had to give to be reconciled to God."

The pre-eminence of Peter Akers and Peter Cartwright is unchallenged in Ills. Methodism. Both were born in Va. on the same day of the same month, the latter 5 years earlier. Both moved to Ky. and later to Ills. Cartwright was the greater organizer, Akers the greater preacher. Both were fit contemporaries of Webster, Lincoln and Sumner. Dr. Akers was indeed a mighty preacher. His sermons were marvelously grand in richness of thought, pathos and power. Abraham Lincoln said of them, "They are beyond my conception of preaching, it is a marvel that God has given such power to man." He has sometimes been called a prophetic preacher, but he never posed as such and no man would be further from such a claim. After his conversion he was remarkably modest, fearless and retiring. He declined the editorialship of "The Christian Advocate" when elected to it by the General Conference, to which he was elected a delegate eight times. In the slavery contest of 1844 he was one of the important Committee of Nine. At one time in that conference he lacked but one vote of being elected Bishop. He sought no honor from men. The offices he held in the church were not of his seeking, but were imposed on him by his brethren. He shrank from nothing he believed to be his duty, and dared to carry out his convictions of truth and right in the face of the strongest opposition. On most moral questions he was in advance of his age.

He was of a prophetic type, a strong vein of mysticism ran through his nature bordering on that of the old Hebrew prophets. He was a kind of seer, a psychologist, a man of second sight. On one occasion he believed that by some kind of telepathic act of his will he went to his old home in Va. and met an old colored servant of the family. The old colored woman declared to the family the next morning that she had seen Peter and talked with him the night before. In "The Guide to Holiness" of Jan., 1876, he records a Providential interference at Russelville, Ky., in 1826, which may be classed here: "A number of horses were tied to a fence running from opposite corners of the church in which the congregation were engaged in prayer. A noted Deist, the teacher of the High School, a man of learning and of much influence and an active opposer of Christianity, stood on the portico of his own house about midway the hill south of the church, watching the lightnings play from a dark, angry cloud. He saw a tremendous lightning bolt go directly from the cloud towards the west end of the church and, within 20 yards of the building he saw it part into two prongs, one killing a horse at each side of the church. At night we had to enlarge the mourners' bench, for he that had been an infidel was led to the altar, crying out mightily under pungent conviction, that nothing short of the power of God could divide the lightning that pointed directly at the church and make it kill two horses at equal distances north and south of the praying congregation. That night 27, including the Deist, were happily converted."

In his discourses Dr. Akers gave himself up to what he believed to be influence of the Holy Spirit. This fact, perhaps, justifies the statement that he was a prophetic preacher. In a sermon of this description preached at a camp meeting on the old Salem camp ground, six miles west of Springfield, Ills., he predicted the civil war and the overthrow of slavery, and added, "The man is now living, and may be within the sound of my voice, who will be God's instrument in the destruction of slavery." Abraham Lincoln was in the audience. He had driven out from Springfield with a company of divines, lawyers and doctors to attend the meeting. On the return trip Lincoln was very quiet and some one twitted him with his silence as they discussed the sermon. He answered, "Gentlemen, while Mr. Akers was preaching about a war and the overthrow of slavery, I was deeply impressed, and could not rid myself of the feeling that in some way I should be mixed up with it all." Often afterwards he repeated this conviction concerning the effects of this sermon on himself, and naturally, for Mr. Lincoln was a man of second sight and a mystic of the same prophetic type as Dr. Akers.

The character of his statements concerning times to come and the commencement of the Millennium written October 28th, 1874, seems to indicate also a conviction of prophetic guidance. We give it in his own words:

"I understand from what is recorded in history, and in the book of Daniel and in Revelation, and from what is now taking place over this world, that the Millennium will commence about the close of the vulgar year 1941. This date will prove to be 'at the end of the days,' which were to precede the Millennium. Dan. 12:7-13, Rev. 20:1-3.

"In our year 606, near its end, began 'the time, times, and a half'—1260 years of Daniel 12:7, when Phocas, Roman Emperor, made Boniface third universal bishop of the church of God on earth, &c. Then began the reign of Popery, 'the abomination that maketh desolate,' and its 1260 years ended with our A. D. 1866. Its temporal power has all disappeared for 12 years. But according to verse 11 the abomination itself was to continue after 'the time, times, and a half,' thirty more years, reaching to our year A. D. 1896. Then 45 years more for the conversion of the whole world; a blessed time, making the whole line of time after 606 a 'thousand three hundred and five and thirty days,' or years. Dan. 12:12.

"You ask, 'when do you expect Satan to be bound?'

"I answer, every one who now belongs to the company called 'An angel come down from heaven' (Rev. 20:1), and uses God's word as he directs, will prove it to be both a 'key' and a 'chain' sufficient to bind and banish Satan continually from him; but this passage refers particularly to the last 45 years' work, when the whole church of God with this 'chain' and 'key' shall set out and go with the earnestness of 'the woman' (Rev. 12:1, 2) for the conversion of the whole world (or, as he expressed in another place, when all professing and possessing the Christian Religion, will have become united in the great work of the church, the conversion of the world unto God; then after 45 years more the work will be completed). And when the great work shall be finished, then will begin the millennium-thousand years when all on earth shall live in constant peace with God, and victory over the world, the flesh and Satan. Martyrs will arise, 'and they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with Him a thousand years.' They may sometimes be visible to the inhabitants of this world.

"You ask, 'Do you feel certain that Christ will not reign a thousand years, more or less, in person?' I answer, I believe the risen martyrs will see his person. But I see no evidence that those in probation will see him."

Dr. Akers lived in the upper story of his being with his soul as a skylight, thus getting something of a prophet's vision. Many years before his death, in a vision, he saw written in characters of light across the sky, "The Lord will come on Sunday morning." This he interpreted to mean that he should die on Sunday morning, and from it predicted that as the people were gathering for worship in their temples below, he would be gathered to the worship of the temple above. He was taken violently sick early in the week and the doctors said he could last at most but 2 or 3 days. His son, Rev. Joshua Soule, then residing in Dakota, was summoned. He started at once and remembering his father's prophecy, felt assured that if he should reach Jacksonville before Sunday he would find him alive. He arrived early Sunday morning and hastening to his beside found him alive, but sinking rapidly. About 9 o'clock the doctor came and said, "he is almost gone." Joshua said as he took out his watch, "Doctor, he has an hour yet. Father always said he would die as the people were going to church." He passed away between the ringing of the bells. His prophecy could have had no psychological effect in determining the time, for his wife says that while he used to speak of it often, he had not mentioned it for several years and she is quite certain that he had forgotten it, as she herself had done, until Joshua's statement recalled it.

Dr. Akers removed to Red Wing, Minn., in 1857, for purposes of health, where he labored with great success for one year, after which he was compelled to desist from active labor for 4 years. In 1865 he returned to Jacksonville, Ills.; was presiding elder of that district for four years. In 1868 he was assigned to the Pleasant Plains District, after which he was compelled to relinquish all active labor by the increasing infirmities of age. While living in retirement at Jacksonville it was his custom to preach one sermon about his birthday, which he was able to do with much acceptance to the last year of his life.

He records three visits to his mother and old friends in Va., in 1822, while on the Limestone Circuit; in 1840 and again in 1844, on his return from the General Conference in New York.

It was probably on his return from one of these two last trips that the father of Wm. Jennings Bryan accompanied him from Campbell, or Culpepper county, to the west to help him to establish the Higher and Better Life and he was there also his tutor. This fact is given on the authority of Albert Akers, who states that while on a trip through West Virginia with a party of gentlemen from Washington, he received this information from the Secretary. This suggests the origin of the advanced views of Mr. Bryan on questions of temperance, peace and religious questions of the day.

4 Mary Elizabeth 3rd, b. 1879-10-29, d. 1880-8 and buried at Madison, Wis., in lot of F. D. Kitchel.
m. 2 Mary Green Schell, sis. of Dr. Augustus H. Schell, and Wm. B. Schell, of Gallatin, Tenn., and Capt. A. Buchwalter Schell, of Louisville, Ky., and Mrs. Josephine Pue, of Ellicott City, Md. n. i.

He was educated at Hampden Sidney College, Univ. of Va., and Union Theological Seminary, Va.; one of 4 students who returned to the Univ. after the war; one of 46 to attend her Confed. reunion in 1912, and a guest both of N. J. and Va. at the historical reunion in 1913 at Gettysburg. Enlisted in Co. "I," Va. Vols.; discharged in 1861-8; re-enlisted in same Company 1862-1-1, Orderly Sergeant and Correspondent of The Richmond Dispatch as "Asa Tennet." Wounded at Kernstown 1862-3 and at Sharpsburg 1863-9. He seven times declined promotion in the line because of his promise to his father not to accept promotion because in more danger as an officer than in the ranks; was detailed as a clerk in the Bureau of Conscription, at Richmond. At organization of the Departmental Company in 1864, after declining in succession the nomination to each commissioned office, was appointed O. Sergt. by the Capt. elect. Next day he was appointed Commissary Sergt. of the Brigade by J. W. Strother, who being recalled the day following as Chief Clerk of Commissary General Northrup, the duties of Commissary of the Brigade fell upon him, in which capacity he served until he rejoined his command in the field that fall. When Gordon's Brigade, to which he belonged, reached Petersburg, he was again detailed as sole clerk of the courtmartial of this Brigade, in which capacity he served until the evacuation of Petersburg. Paroled at Appomattox.

Taught at Cluster Springs High School 1865-66; ordained 1871; Pastor of Madison field, N. C., 1870-72; Gallatin, Tenn., 1872-74; Liberty Corner, N. J., 1874-79; Huntington, W. Va., 1880-82; DeLand, Fla., 1882-85; Evangelist of St. John's Presbytery, 1885-88; Pastor Micanopy and Center Point, Fla., 1888-90; 2nd Birmingham, 1890-94; Grace, St. Louis, Mo., 1896-98; Washington and Pacific, Mo., 1898-1900; Delaware and Knowlton, N. J., 1901-03; Audenried, Pa., 1905-06. His hearing and voice gradually failing he moved to Somerville, N. J., and devoted his whole time to the perfecting of his Bible work.

Author of "Anglophone," or present English print made perfectly phonetic without change of spelling; and of five Spellers in "Anglophone," "The Combination Speller," and four editions of a "A Speller for Foreigners," viz.: "English," "Italian," Hungarian" and "Bohemian." "The Game of Harmony," The Pictured Outline of The Gospel Narrative," "Names, Themes and Divisions of Bible Books," and a tentative edition of the N. T., to show something of the features of his "Bible Work," "The Harmonized and Subject Reference New Testament." Ten important improvements of a practical character, as described below, have been made to it. These have been published, as also this Genealogical book, "The Shearer-Akers Family," published in 1915.

On commencement morning in 1867 at the University of Va., he received his first sudden impulse to simplify the language and Bible Helps, to the development of which he has felt impelled throughout his whole ministry, and at the age of 74, in 1915, just 48 years from its conception, he has perfected the whole in MSS., ready for publication, including the following books and maps, to wit:—

I. For Language Simplification. "The Anglophone Speller," adapted to children and foreigners who are unable to read their own language. This became necessary because it was found that the first book "The Combination Speller," progresses too rapidly for the logic of young minds as well as of foreigners who are unable to read their own language. The same is true of the four "Spellers for Foreigners," named above, which are but reproductions of the first book for foreigners who are able to read their own language, with a few improvements, prepared by photography to save it after the plates, type, matrices and punches from which made had been lost in a fire. This later "Anglophone Speller" is a scientific classification of the language and with the four Readers which are made to accompany it, are suited to the capacity of small children and of foreigners unable to read. A Gospel, or a Gospel Reading book for foreigners will furnish Gospel truth to foreigners who will use it to learn to read English quickly for business purposes who would not otherwise see the Word of God. "The Anglophone Academic Dictionary" and "The Anglophone Common School Dictionary." Both contain many new features made possible with English made phonetic. These furnish the only true bridge to a "Spelling Reform," if ever to come, since a Dictionary with a vocabulary of present English made phonetic will, in that event, become a necessity as a bridge back to present literature.

II. For Bible Simplification. "The Holy Bible with Revised Helps," is a Local, Topical, Paragraph and Harmonized edition, in approved style of modern print with false paragraphing and capitalization corrected. Paragraphs numbered consecutively in the Gospels in the order of Jesus' life give a single reference for synchronous passages, show gospel harmony on the basis of each gospel and on the authority of which Evangelists each passage rests. These paragraphs numbered on consecutively from 317 at Acts to 969 at the end of Revelation; and commencing Genesis with 1001 and numbered on through Malachi, with the numbers placed at the tops of pages, furnish a new, simple mode of reference by paragraph and verse number, as readily found by all who read as by the scholar, since number is expressed in all modern languages by Arabic figures. Paragraph headings give a Specific and Section Headings a General Outline of each book without interpretation. The Harmony of the six Historical books of the Old T., as well as things of double, or multiple mention, is shown by cross reference of paragraph numbers; and similarly with the aid of footnotes the Harmony of the Epistles with Acts throws much light on both.

And further, by preserving the terse Anglo-Saxon of the Received text with only such actual changes as all admit to be desirable, Revision is made to accomplish its true function as an excellent commentary. This is accomplished without confusion by foot-notes and the indication of regular changes in translation and in the tenses of verbs by small superior signs which refer to Tables in the Introduction without at all interfering with the ordinary reader, and all within the same space now required by Chapter headings and reference columns. An entirely new Index also, the fullest ever made for the whole Bible, and also a separate Index for the N. T., both showing the Journeys of important Bible characters on stipple maps and fully illustrating the great superiority of the new mode of reference for tabulation; and yet because of brevity occupying less space than the Indexes in ordinary Teachers' Bibles.

III. Series of Books and Maps complete in Manuscript for the printer and the lithographer to follow the Bible.

1. "The Combination Gospel," the text is a simple combined story of the four gospels for the child, having the same divisions and maps found in the Testament, with question and answer after each of the 46 sections for home and school study; while the margin furnishes a thoroughly critical study for the scholar.

2. "The Combined Gospel Commentary," 2 Vols. Each Paragraph is considered together under three Heads, First, Connection, treating questions of Harmony, time, place and connection; Second, Commentary, the different gospels treated together as a whole under each paragraph with brief exposition; Third, Pointed Practical Thoughts, after the order of Ryle's notes.

3. Ten small stipple maps of "Journeys of Jesus;" three of "Journeys of Acts," and eight of "Journeys of important O. T. Characters," including a map picture of the Book of Judges. Electrotypes of these are made. These are all united in four large maps each 60 by 42 inches, all ready for the lithographer, viz.: One of "Journeys of Jesus" combined; one "Journeys of Acts" combined; and two of O. T., each containing four maps 27 by 19 inches; thus making a series of four Large Wall maps for S. Schools and other public use.

4. "The Scientific Test of Time," 2 Vols. Vol. I. "The Scientific Test of Time" by its "Cycles" established by astronomers. Thus tested the line of time given in the Hebrew Bible proves to be the true astronomical line of years from Creation point as given and corroborated by larger numbers in the Bible, to which all time, archeological, prophetic, astrological and historical must and does correspond; the Bible proves to be the log book of Time and we see how God placed the heavenly bodies in the heavens not only "for seasons, and for days, and years," but also for "signs" of the Inspiration of The Word; for by her methods science could never have found Creation point; but when given in the Bible and tested by their cycles, Creation point proves to be the only point at which the various cycles can begin together indefinitely extended in the past and future. Vol. II. Corroboration from long periods, from Archeology, Prophecy and General Harmony.

5. Two books pertaining to the Civil war and to politics, viz: "Stonewall and with Stonewall," and "Both Sides," or "Two Ways of Looking at Things."

He proposes one book more, if spared to write it, viz: a "History of the Development of the Language and Bible Helps," showing the inception of the idea, the prompting motive, its origin and progress; and how checked Providentially seven times. At times when checked seeing some new desirable feature of Helpfulness to accomplish which required a readjustment of the whole with an incredible amount of labor to which he felt impelled and "could not but" press on, until at last he has the whole complete and sees nothing more to add.

Akers No. 22

George Holland Akers. Local M. E. preacher for 20 years. Farmer, lumber and live stock dealer. An uncommonly conscientious man and a great student of the Bible. He set his standard of life high and lived up to that standard; always affable and genial, with a high sense of honor toward God and man. Left Jacksonville, Ill., about 1860; ran a sawmill at Winterset, Iowa; returned about 1862; went 1864 to Red Wing, Minn., where his father lived by the "Prairie Schooner Route" (in covered wagons). About 1866 went upon the virgin prairie 20 miles from market with wife and 6 children. Through all the trials of frontier life he was never seen to get out of patience, or known to speak a harsh word to wife or children.

9 Edward Howard, b. 1867-2-4, d. 1868-2-5.

The description of the virtuous woman in the last chapter of Proverbs fits Mrs. Akers well. Sewing machines in her day were scarce and high-priced, so that she made all the clothes of her husband and four sons, sewed most of the rags which kept her floors well covered with good carpets and fulfilled her ambition to make two new quilts each year. Caring for the fowls and garden with the help of her four sons and two daughters was one of her chief delights. These were early taught the value of industry more by the example of father and mother than by precept. She not only taught in the Sabbath School, but gave careful instruction to her children at home. Though living away out on the prairie her mind was ever active and it was her delight to compose poems, of which she leaves over 400 pages of legal cap paper, many longer ones superior to the short one chosen to illustrate her abilities as a poet.

Since 1898 she has resided with her daughter, where she continued her practise of constantly employing her hands until in 1907, her eyesight and hearing failed, leaving barely sight sufficient to care for herself and hearing only what is addressed to her. But good health and ambition enables her to defy time, often quoting from a poem written on the death of Sir Walter Scott,

"Time what hast thou to do with one Who never knew a wasted hour?"

Her memory is wonderfully retentive, being able to this day in her ninetieth year to repeat large portions of Scripture and to entertain an audience repeating poems from morning to night. She is a direct descendant from an emigrant on the Mayflower, see "The Worden Family." She has lived nobly for 90 years, doing pioneer work on virgin prairie during her married life and performing every known duty well. Her encomium on her husband applies as well to herself, "A life of loving service to family and church, made in the image of God, and faithfully carrying that image through life."

THE GREAT MYSTERY

(Composed in 1866)

They say that over the river
Is a land all fair and bright,
That its blood-washed hosts are ever
Arrayed in garments of white;
That sorrow, sin and dying
Are in that land unknown,
That no broken hearts are sighing
Around the great White Throne.

But none from that world of glory
 Has ever come to me
 To tell the wondrous story
 Of Immortality;
 The wind, in its matin whispers,
 Its sullen Northern roar,
 Or gentle evening zephyrs,
 Speaks not of the golden shore.

The sun, high in yon heaven,
 No signal flags display,
 The moon has no message given
 From her orbit far away;
 We send out our thoughts to gather
 Some gleams of futurity,
 They come back to us shrouded rather
 In deeper mystery.

I remember one meek and lowly,
 Who folded his hands to die,
 While a gleam of triumph holy
 Lighted his dimming eye;
 His lips could not tell what visions
 Had waked that holy light,
 But we knew that fields Elysian
 Broke on his raptured sight.

Oh, I know there's a land immortal
 Whose streets are paved with gold;
 I know that its shining portals
 Are glorious to behold,
 And I'm waiting for the morning
 When its pearly gates shall be,
 While angels are rejoicing,
 Open to welcome me.

Dr. J. S. Akers was educated at McKendree College, from which he received the degree of "D.D." He volunteered for military service, but was rejected because of physical disability. Licensed to preach in 1861 by Chauncy Hobart; labored in pioneer work for six years in Minn.; transferred to Illinois conference in 1867; pastor at Carrollton, Beardstown, Taylorsville, Georgetown, Paxton and Roodhouse; afterwards Supt. of Western Seamen's Society in Chicago. In 1882, because of the failing health of his wife, he moved to So. Dakota and helped to lay the foundations for the M. E. Church and her educational institutions. For six years Presiding Elder of the Aberdeen District. In 1900 appointed financial agent of "Woman's College" and returned to his native state, Illinois. Later he returned to Minnesota to be with his oldest son, where his wife soon died. He soon afterwards returned to Jacksonville, Ills., and made his home with his son Edwin until his death in 1900 (?). Together with his father, Dr. Peter Akers, and his son, Rev. Edwin W. Akers, the family has given over 135 years to the Christian ministry.
